WEDDINGS

At the Central United Church Calgary, Thursday, November 14th, Miss Gladys Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Carlson, of Didsbury was united in marriage to Mr. H. P. Daniels of Calgary.

Evangelistic Services

REV. F. F. JORDAN

The Messages at both services of the Evangelical Church, Sunday, will be brought by Rev. F. F. Jordan of Elgin, Illinois.

Rev. Jordan is a member and former district superintendent of the Illinois Conference of the Evangelical Church. For a number of years he has travelled throughout Canada and the United States in evangelistic work and as a Bible lecturer. He will conduct a series of special services at Zion Church from November 24th to December 15th every evening except Saturday—Plan to come—You will be welcome.

Transients Get Year for Housebreaking

Three transients, who gave their names as Campbell, Applethwaite and Hamilton, from Dauphin, Man., were sentenced to one year with hard labor, when brought before Magistrate Peattie on Monday at Olds, and charged with housebreaking at Didsbury.

Early on Sunday morning they broke into O. W. Stauffer's residence and stole a quantity of clothing, a 22 rifle and other articles. Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer were in bed at the time, but did not hear anything.

Later in the morning, while John Tracksell was at church, they broke into his residence and also stole clothing, a rifle and a quantity of jewelry and trinkets. They also broke into the Gillrie livestock office and broke up the furniture and stole a pair of rubber boots and a saw.

Constable Kercher saw the three suspicious characters and deputized Mr. Herman Hawkes. They arrested the men on the prairie south of the Butte and they proved to be the guilty parties. They were taken to Olds and lodged in jail.

The stolen goods were afterwards found hidden near the depot, it apparently being the intention of the men to leave town by the freight train.

Cut Duties on $1,000 Car To a Total of $45.00

Lowering of duties and excise tax on lower-priced automobiles imported from the United States would work out at $45.00 on a car worth $1,000 under the reciprocity pact just concluded between Canada and the U.S. Reduction in duty on a car bought for $1,500, at which price it would not enjoy a decrease in excise tax, would be $112.50.

Excise tax will drop 2 per cent on American automobiles under the value of $1,200 American prices. In place of paying a 5 per cent excise tax, these lower-priced cars, accorded more favored national treatment through their transfer from the general to the intermediate tariff schedules, will pay only the regular 3 per cent excise tax.

Town Council.

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held Monday evening, with Mayor Chambers in the chair. Councillors Budgeon, Spence, Pitt, Reiber and Gooder were present.

The municipal inspector's report, which was read, showed the books of the town to be in proper order, and the report was adopted.

The monthly financial statement was read and showed that $2,000.00 more had been paid in taxes than at the same period last year.

Quotations on a siren for fire alarm were presented, but the matter was left to the fire and property committee to make further inquiries.

Mr. W. Smith appeared before the council with respect to truckmen peddling coal. It was pointed out that all pedlars were required to have a provincial licence, and that the matter will be brought to the attention of the provincial licence department.

Capt. Waterstreet, of Calgary, appeared before the council, asking for a grant to the Salvation Army's social work and the old people's home. A by-law, making a grant of $50.00, was passed.

The matter of business tax arrears for 1934 was discussed and the secretary was instructed to write those in arrears that after December 15th legal proceedings would be taken to collect the tax arrears.

An application for unemployed relief was approved, and a report received of the granting of a mother's allowance.

The meeting concluded with a number of accounts being passed for payment.

Dominion Loans Alberta Millions

Another $1,000,000 loan was advanced to Alberta on Tuesday by the Dominion government to tide this province over until the Dominion-Provincial conference is called at Ottawa in December, Premier Aberhart announced this week.

Alberta had asked for $2,000,000 to last until this date, but a communication from Hon. C. A. Dunning, federal minister of finance, said that only half of it could be granted.

This loan, with the $2,250,000 obtained by Premier Aberhart from the government of Hon. R. B. Bennett in September, makes a total of $3,250,000 loaned to Alberta Social Credit government by the Dominion in the past two months.

Gun Play At Crossfield

Overpowered by dancers at the East Community Hall near Crossfield late Friday night after he had allegedly fired a shot through the ceiling and had twice fired at Corporal D. Cameron, R.C.M.P., Arthur Heywood, aged 50, Crossfield, is in custody.

Notified earlier in the evening that Heywood had declared to various persons in Crossfield that he intended to kill a man against whom he had a grudge, Corporal Cameron left town in his car to overtake Heywood, who was walking to the dance hall, 7 miles east of Crossfield.

Seeing Heywood on the road, Corporal Cameron stopped his car, stepped out and accosted him. According to the police, Heywood immediately fired a shot, the bullet from a high powered rifle just missing Cameron's head. As the corporal, who was unarmed, stepped back, another shot was fired. Then Heywood, allegedly, got into Cameron's car and turned the lights out.

The corporal returned to Crossfield and telephoned the officials in charge of the dance hall that Heywood was on his way out and was "looking for trouble." He advised the men guests at the hall to be prepared to capture him when he arrived and to see that the ladies got out of the hall.

Shortly afterward Heywood, with his rifle cocked, entered the dance hall. He fired a shot through the ceiling just as the men pounced upon him. He was then held in custody until the police arrived.

Table Cream Shippers Will Meet.

A meeting of the Didsbury Table Cream Shippers will convene at the Livestock Office on Saturday afternoon, November 23 at 2 o'clock, for the election of officers and other business.

It is rumored that an effort is again being made to cut the Didsbury cream shippers from the Calgary market, and is essential that all cream shippers attend to discuss this matter.

Looking Forward

Never in the history of the country have the actions and policies of an incoming government been subjected to such close scrutiny as will be the decisions and doings of the new Mackenzie King, Liberal regime, which was returned to power with such overwhelming support from all parts of the country on October 14.

The reason for this assertion is not far to seek. Canada is apparently just emerging from a prolonged period of agricultural and world-rooted economic depression. During this period pocket books have been hard hit. Much misery has prevailed as the standard of living for a very large percentage of the population steadily declined. The cost of operation of all governments, federal, provincial and municipal have necessarily mounted to meet the demands for assistance from all classes of citizens, bringing in its train increased taxation at a time when people could ill afford it. Some of the expenditure has been met as it was incurred. Much of it has been pushed ahead for future liquidation.

As a result, all governmental units are faced with the difficult problem of operating economically so as not to bear down harder than necessary on individual resources and at the same time maintain a growing list of public services which the people have become accustomed to expect, and these conditions the governments are expected to cope with while an accumulation of indebtedness is being paid off. It looks like a herculean task.

The fact that such a large proportion of the population has felt in varying degrees the intensity of the six depression years has in itself stimulated a much greater interest in the affairs of the country, the province and the municipality than the people evinced in years of comparative plenty.

In good times the citizens are prone to take but a cursory interest in their own public affairs and usually only just around election time, but when times are hard and unfortunate conditions strike right into the home, people bestir themselves and become vociferous. And that is exactly what happened on October 14 and for many months prior to that date.

And now that the people have spoken their mind quite definitely it is safe to assume that, for a time at least, they will follow up their decision, by continuing to take a keen and watchful interest in what their representatives at Ottawa do. The interest so recently stimulated is not likely to be immediately extinguished now that the die is cast, and one of the reasons for this is the fact that even if the so-called prosperity corner has been turned, there is still a long climb ahead before the peak is reached.

For some time to come the upward struggle will be difficult. The road will be rocky in places and thorned bushes line the path. The inevitable temporary setbacks will be experienced and doubtless there will be some who will become impatient.

Whatever measures the new federal government may have in mind to smooth the highway and make the journey easier must await the necessary preliminary discussions and decisions and subsequent announcements and they must be put into operation before a final verdict as to their effectiveness can be pronounced.

It must be borne in mind that it took several years after the big avalanche of the fall of 1929 before the floor of the depression valley was reached. It is only reasonable to suppose that it will take as long, perhaps longer, to reach the summit as it required to touch bottom. Past experience has taught this lesson for those whose memories are long enough.

Canada, however, has come through this trying period in better condition than many other less fortunate nations. She has preserved her democratic institutions. The fortitude and courage of her people have proved a bulwark during the difficult period. Her financial integrity and credit have been preserved unimpaired. Her people have not starved nor frozen. Materially, she has not sustained such severe shocks as have been the lot of citizens of many of the other countries of the world.

With these assets to sustain the people in their progress towards recovery, plus such assistance as a stable government is able to give within its limitations, Canadians have every reason to look forward with hope towards the future.

And stable government, too, will be able to play an important role in the forward move to better things and improved conditions. It is true there are many who are disappointed that the political party of their choice was not successful at the polls on October 14, but even they will join the majority in expressing approval that the winning party was returned to office in sufficient strength to ensure a government that will be unhampered by the necessity of temporizing at a time when stability and a straight-forward course is essential if a maximum of progress is to be enjoyed.

Even so, all eyes will be turned on Ottawa during the next few months.

Spain lists its population from the United States at 1,012.

England is going back to the land under scientific protection.

South Rhodesia will establish an air force reserve.

Fifty-Foot Yacht Makes Safe Voyage Across The Pacific

Three months out from Yokohama, with auxiliary engines disabled three days after departure, the 50-foot schooner-rigged yacht Romance arrived at Victoria after weathering almost continuous head gales across the Pacific.

The yacht was skippered by Captain Ernest Green, former master of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, and carried a crew of two, the skipper's 18-year-old son Philip, an engineer, and John Hunter, former Victorian, able seaman.

"I've spent 40 years at sea, part of that time on old square-riggers, but these waves seemed like huge mountains with the snow coming off," said Captain Green, telling of the worst blow on Sept. 21.

"The Romance rode them beam on with bare poles, taking them in beautiful fashion and shipping no water. But when I saw one comber coming that must have been 50 feet high, I truly thought we were done for and uttered a prayer. But we made it. Then we put on two oil bags, one at the fore rigging and the other at the main. And the effect was instantaneous; the seas calmed and we breathed easier."

"The Romance is as safe as an Empress, though it may not be as comfortable. The French government thinks so well of it that French officials in Indo-China asked the builders for specifications. With more power this type of craft would be ideal for service in those waters."

Captain Green chose the old-time sailing ship track over 40 north latitude and sighted only one craft, a Japanese vessel, on the trip from the Yokohama breakwater.

The voyage was the culmination of a lifetime ambition of a seadog who retired last year and who made the crossing many times as master of the 17,000-ton Empress of Asia until he reached the retirement age.

The World Rulers

Author Thinks 200 Men Are Masters Of Human Conscience

A thesis that five men "master the consciences of the mass of humanity" and that the world is "managed or mismanaged" by about 200 out of a population of more than 2,000,000,000, is presented by "the Unofficial Observer" in a book published in New York.

In a volume entitled "Our Lords and Masters," the anonymous author asserts that "of these 10 score potentates, barely 25 men rank as world rulers in their own right."

In the sphere of social behavior the five he lists as masters of human conscience are: King George V., Pope Pius XI., Leon Trotsky, the Emperor of Japan and Mahatma Gandhi.

Among the more mundane political potentates he lists as the eight outstanding world rulers: Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin and Sir Samuel Hoare, of Great Britain; Andre Tardieu of France; Joseph Stalin of the Soviet Union; Benito Mussolini of Italy; Adolf Hitler of Germany; President Roosevelt of the United States and Mustapha Kemal Ataturk of Turkey.

Population Of World

Estimated It Will Be Six Billion By The Year 2100

It has been estimated that if the present rate of increase continues the world will have no fewer than 6,000,000,000 people to feed, clothe and house by the year 2100—less than 170 years in the future. The number mentioned is regarded as about as many as the old earth can comfortably cater for unless its soil is taught to yield more bountiful crops than it does at present. To-day the world population is only about 1,900,000,000.

Diamond Mines In Canada

American Geologist Believes There Is Hidden Wealth In This Country

A geologist and an industrial diamond expert voiced the belief that beneath the soil of Canada lie diamond fields far richer than those of South Africa.

Professor A. S. Furcron, of Western Reserve University, and D. W. Carter, head of a diamond tool company, agreed that authenticated diamond discoveries in the United States support the Canadian theory.

They said the glaciers of thousands of years ago carried to this country many precious stones together with millions of tons of Canadian rocks and minerals.

Carter asserted he subscribes to a theory that northern Canada was a jungle before nature began forming gems in South Africa. "Therefore," he added, "Canada would contain far greater deposits of riches than the comparatively new dark continent."

Cold Winter Predictions Analyzed By Experts Who Make Study Of Weather

Will the coming winter be colder or will it be warmer than the average of winters?

A study of winter temperatures beginning with that of 1829, and covering New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, does not afford an answer to the question. It presents an interesting fact, however—namely, that the average of the first twenty years of the period is nearly three degrees lower than that of the last twenty years, 32.6 degrees in comparison with 35.2 degrees. One cannot base a conclusion from this instance, but it is in line with broader and more extensive observations. It offers no clue to what we may expect in the winter now ahead. Forecasts in the case are uncertain of verification, writes Jacques W. Redway in New York Sun.

Popular traditions offset a warm summer with a cold winter to follow. Sometimes it happens that way, it is true, but if the mean temperature of the year is below the average both summer and winter usually are cold—and that, too, has exceptions.

Where there are no air movements and neither cloud nor dust to intercept the sun's rays the temperature of the air would vary with the number of daylight hours and the altitude of the sun above the horizon. Our winters would be cold for two causes—namely, the lack of sunshine and the low altitude of the sun, whose rays lose much of their effect as they fall aslant upon the earth.

But other factors are to be considered. The air is ever in motion and cold waves from arctic regions seep southward into temperate regions. When more than the average number visit us winter temperature may fall below the average. Cold waves are of short duration, however, and a cold winter from that cause is rarely much below the average.

A cold year is another matter. It is a steady and progressive lowering of temperature over a great part of the earth. In 100 years of record in New York City, including sixty years of Weather Bureaus, there have been six years in which the winter temperatures have been bitterly cold. The coldest of record, 27.5 degrees, occurred in 1835-36, when the mean temperature was nearly five degrees below the normal winter temperature. It was also a record cold winter in Philadelphia, the mean being the same as that of New York City.

The winter of 1885—and also the year—was also very cold, and a reason, therefore was discovered. In 1884, Krakatau, a volcano in Sunda Strait, belched several hundred million tons of dust into the upper air. The resulting haze was so dense that the sun shone red in midday hours and blood red when at the horizon. The dust blanket was so dense that it intercepted a measurable degree of heat, causing a cold spell that continued for more than a year. There was no question about the character of the dust. Examined by scores of expert microscopists, it was found to consist of lava blasted into fine dust by the volcanic explosion; shot twenty miles into the upper air, it spread into a broad belt that girdled the earth. Dust below cloud height is quickly brought to earth by rain or by snow; above cloud height it falls by its own gravity and falls so slowly that the rate is hardly measurable.

The study of the dust blanket of Krakatau has made plain the cause of other severely cold years, both winter and summer. The "dry fog" in 1783, described by Benjamin Franklin; and that of the summerless year of 1816, which required a chapter of explanation in Thompson's "History of Vermont," was a volcanic dust blanket.

Will our coming winter be cold? In accordance with popular tradition it should follow a summer that has been rather warm. It may be cold—and it may not be. The five winters preceding that of 1933-34 were all warm, one being a fraction of a degree above normal temperature. Last winter was cold—nearly five degrees below the average of twenty years. To anticipate a cold winter would not be unreasonable, but a positive forecast would not be reasonable. There has not been a volcanic eruption of the kind that shoots dust clouds into the air, and there is nothing to show that the earth has been radiating more heat than it has received. When March 22, 1936, comes to us the weather sharps who base their forecasts on goose-foot callosities will shoot "I told you so."

Seigneurs To Lose Rights

Quebec Municipalities May Be Permitted To Purchase Clear Titles

Seigniorial rights—last vestige of the ancient feudal system on this continent—are fast disappearing from Quebec with the appointment by the Quebec government of a rights purchasing commission under the Seigniorial Rights Abolition Act.

Introduced during the 17th century when eastern Canada was New France, seigniorial rights were granted to certain settlers as a colonization measure, entitling them to collect dues from farmers who took up land on their estates. In return, the seigneur agreed to use all his efforts to encourage settlement and clearing of the land. The farmers gathered at the seigneur's home on a certain day each year to pay their dues, known as cens et rentes.

Under the French regime 225 seigneuries were established, of which 190 still exist. Three hundred years ago the seigneur would accept a few cents in cash and the remainder of the dues in farm products such as wheat, fowl and vegetables. The present-day seigneur, however, demands the entire sum in cash and the habitant often finds it difficult to pay. Numerous complaints have led the government to take steps to abolish the tenure.

The project the commission is studying is one by which the various rural municipalities would be entitled to buy out all seigniorial rights from the seigneurs, spreading the instalments over a period of 20 or more years.

Many Will Agree

Somerset Maugham Dislikes Getting Up In The Morning

"I forget who it was," writes Somerset Maugham, "that recommended men for their soul's good to do each day two things they disliked; it was a wise man, and it is a precept that I have followed scrupulously; for every day I have got up and I have gone to bed." Although going to bed requires decision and is therefore unnatural, it is not a heroic act like getting up. The day includes twenty-four hours, with noon tossed in as a halfway mark between mere sloth and absolute abandon, but none of the hours is late enough to make getting up easy. Although thousands—perhaps millions—of people get up promptly every morning without complaint, they are simply creatures of habit or necessity. "Oh, how I hate to get up in the morning," the old army ballad says. "It's nice to get up in the morning," Harry Lauder used to sing, "but it's nicer to lie in bed." It certainly is. Getting up cannot compare with lying in bed.—New York Times.

British Admiral Presented Picture Apparatus To Lepers Hospital

When Admiral Sir William Fisher, Commander-in-Chief of the British Mediterranean fleet and an enthusiastic film fan, was told during his recent visit to Malta that the lepers never went to the movies because they were forbidden to leave their camp he presented a talking picture apparatus to the hospital. One of the first pictures shown was of the Jubilee in London. The lepers have placed a life-size portrait of Admiral Fisher in the hospital.

Timothy Seed Prices

Large Production This Year Has Depressed Prices

Recently the Markets Division of the Seed Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, released a timothy seed crop report which indicates an abnormally large production of this seed in Canada in 1935. It would appear that there may be about eleven million pounds of seed available for commerce as against five million pounds in 1934 and an annual consumption in recent years of approximately seven million pounds. Owing to the surplus in sight, Canada is now for the first time in history on an export price basis in respect to this seed. In past years prices at Chicago plus freight and import charges were the basis of value in Canada, whereas this year, domestic prices may be based on Chicago quotations less freight and export charges. As a result of this changed situation prices are now very low. At this time last year timothy seed was selling in Canada at fifteen to twenty cents per pound as against three to four and a half cents per pound at the present time. Surplus production this year resulted from two main factors, i.e., the high prices of last year which stimulated production and the abnormally large hay crop which permitted farmers generally to leave fields for seed rather than cut for hay.

The Value Of Paper

Few People Realize What It Means To The World

Arthur Pond in Atlantic Monthly says lacking paper, history would be almost a blank; geography still a fable; poetry a harpist's song by the fireside; trade a matter of simple barter, and the productive arts still under rule of thumb. Each generation, instructed only by the word of mouth by elders schooled through crude experience, would have had to repeat in its own time, the errors of its forefathers, and all human knowledge would have been at the mercy of precarious memory.

Increasing The Use Of Agricultural Products In The Automotive Industry

Ninety-three million honey bees are on the pay roll of one of the largest makers of American automobiles—93,000,000 buzzing, busy bees turning out beeswax, which is used for various purposes in the automotive industry.

Besides, writes Malcolm McDowell in the Chicago Daily News, the same motor maker employs 800,000 sheep, 87,000 goats, 10,000 cattle and 20,000 hogs, which contribute raw materials available in his factories.

When to all these industrialized creatures are added 112,000,000 feet of lumber, 2,400,000 pounds of linseed oil, 500,000 bushels of corn, 341,000 pounds of castor oil, 2,500,000 gallons of molasses, 69,000,000 pounds of cotton, 1,800,000 pounds of soybeans, 2,000,000 pounds of turpentine and 728,000 gallons of tung oil you get some idea of what American farms supply, in one year, for just one make of automobiles and that without considering the agricultural products of like nature and other automobile manufacturers use annually.

Increasing the use of agricultural products in the automotive industry is one of the major purposes of the program of the Farm Chemurgic Council. In forwarding this purpose a number of investigations by industrial chemists, under the general supervision of the research section of the council, will be carried on to develop new sources of raw material to be contributed by farmers and which can be made available in the automotive industry.

It follows, say chemists, that if bee hives are supplying material usable by automobile makers, they can do the same for other industries. Consequently, it is safe to venture the prediction that the busy bee will not escape the scientific curiosity of the research chemists, seeing that 93,000,000 bees are now working for one auto concern.

Contact already has been made by the Farm Chemurgic Council with the American Honey Institute of Madison, Wis. The institute has contributed much interesting and informative data concerning bees and their products. The following is gleaned from the material supplied by the American Honey Institute.

Besides its general and longtime use as human food, honey, industrially, is utilized in many products. It may be found in the centre of golf balls; it is a medium for curing tobacco pipes; it is an astringent in certain types of cosmetics; gems are boiled in honey to enhance their beauty; it is an important ingredient in tooth pastes; it is used as a polish for kid shoes; it enters into a waterproofing for leather and is available for many other industrial purposes. Beeswax has numerous uses in the arts and trades and it is made of honey by the bees. Eight to ten pounds of honey are consumed by the bees to produce a single pound of beeswax.

The sweet sought by bees in flowers is not honey; it is similar to sweetened water and is called nectar. Honey is the nectar of flowers; evaporated and modified by the bees. Actual weighings have shown that it takes 20,000 bees to bring to the hive one pound of nectar, which will make about a quarter of a pound of honey.

So it would require the full time of 80,000 bees to bring in enough nectar to make a pound of honey and 80,000 more bees must turn themselves into ventilators by buzzing their wings inside the hive to produce the air currents to evaporate the water from the nectar. Thus 160,000 bees must work to store up a pound of honey in their hive. Small wonder, then, that the automobile maker has put 93,000,000 bees on his pay roll.

Industrial chemists do not believe that honey and its main by-product, beeswax, ever will enter largely into the industries; they have regarded bee hives as the special responsibilities of agricultural chemists. Nevertheless, when they check up the thousands of surprising discoveries made in the research laboratories by chemists investigating the industrial possibilities of corn, artichokes, potatoes, hemp, eggs, fruits, weeds, and other farm products they believe that honey, chemically known as a monosaccharide and which is much the same sugar that is found in most fruits offers a promising field for industrial research.

It contains, besides levulose, said to be the sweetest of sugars, and dextrose, mineral elements such as iron, lime, sodium, magnesium and phosphoric acid.

It would not be surprising if the chemical investigator would discover in honey a medicine as yet of unknown properties, productive of wonderful effects.

That the bees will be subjected to a most exhaustive investigation in the laboratory of a research chemist seems to be certain. The fact findings of the investigator may lead to a much greater appreciation of its importance in the industrial and economic fields than now is apparent.

Token Of Goodwill

Winnipeg Receives Quarter Ton Of Raisins From Australia

A quarter of a ton of raisins was presented to the city of Winnipeg recently. The presentation was made to Mayor John Queen by L. R. MacGregor, Australian trade commissioner in Canada, as the mayor opened a local Australian exhibition. The raisins are to be distributed among the public institutions of the city, among those on relief, or among the poor, Mr. MacGregor said. The gift was being made as a mark of appreciation of Canadian goodwill towards Australia.

In winter when there is little sunshine, chicken feed should contain cod or sardine liver oil at the rate of one to two pints to each hundred pounds of mash.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME

Enlargements of long distance shots will often bring out the "action" detail of a football play (left). A shot from the side lines (right).

Hold that line! Hold that line! Yes, football season is with us again with its excited yelling crowds, raccoon coats and joyous celebrations by supporters of the winning team.

What a paradise for the snapshotter! He who goes to the game without his camera is missing a golden opportunity. Pictures of the game, the crowds in the grandstands and informal shots of his classmates and friends will furnish him many hours of pleasure year after year as he looks back through his snapshot album.

There are countless opportunities for interesting, story-telling pictures at football games. All you have to do is use a little imagination. When you are blocked in the traffic and remark to the girl friend, "Gee, look at that line-up of cars and the crowd at the game," don't stop with that—take a snapshot. Don't be satisfied with stepping out of the car and just snapping a straight line of cars. Stand on the bumper and shoot down on the traffic and crowds. The results will be much more pleasing than the ordinary, conventional view.

The period before the start of the game offers further opportunities for unusual snapshots. For instance, take a picture from the top of the grandstand steps showing the crowds coming up the steps to their seats. A shutter speed of 150 of a second will stop the motion of the people as they walk directly toward your camera.

Stand on your seat and take a full view picture of the crowds in the grandstand and as you do this you may see some of your friends seated nearby. Attract their attention and as they wave with a cheery, "Hey, Bill," you can snap another interesting, story-telling picture. Even a chance, "blind" shot over your shoulder may bring unusual and pleasing results.

See to-day that your camera is ready for action, load it with film and leave for the game determined to get the kind of pictures you will be proud to show your friends.

Effect of Phosphate Fertilizer on Grade of Wheat.

In spite of consistent increased yields from the use of phosphate fertilizers in certain sections of Western Canada, a criticism has been made that their use resulted in a lowering of the market grade of grain by reducing the size of the kernels.

To determine the truth of this complaint, the point is being studied at the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Sask., by F. M. MacIsaac. Samples have been taken from plots where different rates of phosphate fertilizer were applied on summer fallow. After determining the weight per bushel of the threshed sample, the kernels were passed through a set of sieves which gave the percentage of kernels in five different sizes. The work on this question to date gives indications that the effect on grade depends on the kind of growing season.

In an average season, the yield, weight per bushel, and size of kernels, were increased when a moderate rate of phosphate fertilizer was drilled in with the seed. In a season of low yields the weight per bushel was decreased over two lbs. per bushel. Approximately 60 per cent of the kernels were in the smaller sizes, but the yield per acre was increased 4 1/2 bushels. In years of late summer frosts, such as 1928 and 1935, quite a percentage of the unfertilized crops were seriously damaged, with yield and grade materially lowered, while fertilized crops produced higher yields and grades, thus greatly increasing their market value.

The general conclusion is that in areas where a phosphate fertilizer definitely increases yields, only in very dry seasons will the grade be adversely affected. This suggests that in districts where fertilizers give beneficial results a light rate of phosphate be used every year, instead of trying to guess the seasons which might promise maximum results from its use.

Katharine Hepburn in "The Little Minister."

With Katharine Hepburn as the fiery gypsy girl, Babbie, central figure of Sir James Barrie's most famous romance, "The Little Minister" comes here this Saturday as the star's proudest contribution to her record of successes.

Miss Hepburn has never had a finer role than Babbie, nor taken part in a lovelier screen romance than that with Gavin, the shy little dominie of the tiny Scotch town of Thrums, immortalized by Barrie.

Katharine Hepburn—"The Little Minister"—Sir James Barrie. These three, with all the outstanding talents around them, spell one of the most beautiful and thrilling romances the talkies have yet created.

Tonight's (Thursday) rhythmic program stars those two exponents of the Terpsichorean art, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "The Gay Divorcee," with an added attraction, "La Cucaracha," gorgeously colored Bohemian interlude by Technicolor, featuring the famous Spanish dancers, Steffi Duna, Don Alvarado and Paul Porcasi.

Items of Interest

Unless attempts to upset the judicial recount are successful, Gerald Grattan McGeer goes to Ottawa as House of Commons representative for Vancouver-Burrard. The mayor of Vancouver was declared elected by six votes by Judge J. N. Ellis on Friday last, when recount proceedings ended. Previously the seat had been awarded to Arnold Webster, C.C.F. Giving Mayor McGeer a majority of six votes the recount of ballots showed: McGeer 10,215; Webster 10,209; A. J. McDonnell, Conservative, 5,565; Dr. H. L. W. Turnbull, Reconstruction, 1,902 and W. A. Tuttle, Social Credit, 532.

Canadian tourists who visit the United States will, if Parliament approves, be permitted to bring back from that country, free of duty, purchases to the value of $100, as a result of trade negotiations which culminated in the new treaty. The provision for $100 free entry of goods was meant for the bona fide tourist and not for the special benefit of persons living at border points, said Hugh D. Scully, commissioner of customs when asked for a clarification of the item in the Canada-United States trade treaty.

Returns from the grain inspection department since August 1 show that more than 60,000 cars of new wheat were inspected. Of this total nearly 40,500 cars were contract grades. There were around 12,000 cars No. 1 Northern. Nearly 13,000 cars graded No. 5, 6 and feed. Only about 800 cars graded No. 1 or No. 2 Garnet.

Alleged Robbers Of Store Arrested

Unknown robbers broke into the general store of H. R. Beckner at Carstairs at about 5 o'clock Thursday morning and stole a large quantity of clothing and between $75 and $100 in cash.

The stolen articles included a number of leather coats and ladies dry goods.

Mounted police the same afternoon arrested William Carter and Harold Goodwin at McLeod. At the time of their arrest they were found to have in their possession the goods stolen from the Carstairs store and were driving a Terraplane automobile, according to the police.
Search was continuing for a youth believed to be the third member of the party involved in the Carstairs robbery.

Obituary.

C. J. FOAT

Another oldtimer of this district passed away on Monday, November 11, when C. J. Foat died at his home at Cremona at the age of 79 years.
He had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Foat came here with his family in 1902 and during his long residence made a wide circle of friends, who will mourn his loss.

Funeral services were held at the Carstairs United Church on Wednesday, November 13, when the large gathering testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Rev.
C. E. Rogers conducted the service, during which Mr. and Mrs. Traub sang with great feeling a sacred duet.

Deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. Huber and Mrs.
E. Reid, of Cremona. Interment was made in Carstairs Cemetery.

HUGH GILMORE

Hugh Gilmore, pioneer of the west country and one of its earliest settlers passed away in the Olds General Hospital at 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning, November 12, following an illness of six days.

Mr. Gilmore was born in Ontario in 1863, and at the age of 17 years went to reside in Michigan, U.S.A.
In 1892 he married Bertha Effy
Smith, of Michigan, and in 1899
Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore came to Alberta and the Olds district, taking up a homestead on the Dog Pound Creek. To this union three daughters and a son were born, Mrs. J. K.
Paul, Calgary; Mrs. Glen Webb and Mrs. J. Aldrich, both of Cremona, and Harold, at Harmattan.
The homestead on the creek was the Gilmore home until 1918, when the family moved on to a farm in the Harmattan district, their present home. Mrs. Gilmore passed away five years ago.

Mr. Gilmore went to Olds on the Wednesday of the week preceding his demise, and while at the home of his nephew, Rhea Gilmore, was seized with violent chills. Medical aid was called and, acting on advice, he was taken to hospital. Pneumonia developed, which was the cause of his death. The funeral was held at Westerdale on Sunday, November 17.

William Bertram Boucock, 47 years of age, of Carstairs, died in a local hospital on Sunday morning.
Born in Lansing, Ont., the late Mr.
Boucock came west in 1906, ranching at Hussar and High River for a number of years before moving to Carstairs in 1924.

Doings of Our Neighbors

AT OLDs: The 35th anniversary of the opening of the Olds United Church was held on Sunday. It is interesting to note that Dr. Thomas Powell, the pastor who opened the church, preached the sermon at the 35th anniversary.

AT CARSTAIRS: Beckner's Store
was broken into Thursday morning and robbed of $60.00 cash and merchandise to the value of $28.00.
The thieves were picked up near McLeod the same day and brought back to Crossfield for trial.

Knox United Church Notes.

Rev. R. W. Hibbert, secretary of the Religious Education Council of Alberta, will preach on Sunday evening at the United Church. Mr.
Hibbert is one of the outstanding preachers of the province and young people are especially invited to attend as he has a special message for them. After the close of the evening service in town there will be shown pictures of Trinidad, our oldest overseas mission. These pictures are very fine and are well worth seeing. All are cordially invited.

A special convention celebrating the tenth anniversary of the United Church of Canada will be held in Calgary at the Knox United Church on November 26th and 27th. The speakers will be Dr. James Endicott, Ex-Moderator; Dr. R. B. Cochrane,
Secretary of Board of Home Missions, and Dr. E. Crossley Hunter, of First Church Hamilton. The first meeting will be on Tuesday afternoon at 3 p.m. and there will be two mass meetings Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. At 6 p.m. on Wednesday there will be a banquet at which Dr. Charles Endicott of Saskatoon will speak. See the Bulletin Board for further particulars. This promises to be a most inspiring occasion and all our members and friends are heartily welcomed.

There is to be a Young People's Rally at Olds next Monday, November 25th, at which Rev. R. W.
Hibbert will be present. This is a Presbytery Rally and we would like to see a number of our young people attend.

Over 14 million bushels of wheat were shipped from Canada to overseas destinations during October, and almost 5 million bushels were shipped into the United States.

A Law Every Mother Should Know and Observe

Never Give Your Child An Unknown Remedy without Asking Your Doctor First

According to any doctor you ask, the only safe way is never to give your child a remedy you don't know all about, without asking him first.

When it comes to "milk of magnesia," that you know everywhere, for over 60 years, doctors have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia for your child."

So—always say Phillips' when you buy. And, for your own peace of mind, see that your child gets this; the finest men know. Made in Canada.

Safety for You and Yours

You can assist others by refusing to accept a substitute for the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Do this in the interest of yourself and your children—and in the interest of the public in general.

Was Famous Cartoonist

Sidney Smith Creator Of The Gumps, Killed In Automobile Accident

An automobile crash in Illinois ended the career of Sidney Smith, cartoonist-philosopher, who made "Oh Min" and "Soup's On" household phrases in many lands.

The veteran creator of "The Gumps", "Old Doc Yak" and "Ching Chow" who dropped pearls of wisdom and humor from his lips each day, was dead when they removed him from the wreckage of his car.

Smith, who was 58, ranked with Claire Briggs as probably the greatest portrayer of family life through the medium of cartoons. The daily doings of Andy and Min Gump, Little Chester and the fabulously wealthy Uncle Bim, their joys and their sorrows, have been a comic page feature for years.

More recently Smith introduced "Ching Chow," a little Oriental of few words and much wisdom. This box cartoon was made to tell readers such things as "The slave has but one master—the ambitious as many as there are people likely to be useful to him."

Smith's noted career started when he was but 18, making him one of the real oldsters of the game. The ranks of the veterans are thin, "Gus" Herri-man, artful drawer of "Krazy Kat" and Bud Fisher, creator of "Mutt and Jeff," remaining as probably the two best known among the old hands.

Among the intimate little twists Smith got out of his work was the license number 348. Long ago it appeared on Yak's auto. Then he transferred it to Andy Gump's half-pint gas buggy. Only Smith's intimates knew that 348 was the cartoonist's own motor permit number and was issued to him for many years.

Smith's attorney, E. Williams, disclosed that a few hours before the fatal journey the cartoonist had renewed his contract with the Chicago-Tribune-New York News syndicate. He said it stipulated the payment of $750,000 for a five-year period.

A native of Bloomington, Ill., Smith had been a staff member of the Chicago Tribune since 1911. He began his career as a cartoonist on the Bloomington Eye in 1895.

New Gold Discovery

Several Groups Of Claims Staked In Ontario Near Manitoba Boundary

A new gold discovery in the north-west corner of Ontario, where several groups of claims have already been staked was announced by Hon. Paul Leduc, Ontario minister of mines, who said the new area "appears a favorable one for prospecting."

David Foster, prospector for a Winnipeg group, was credited with the discovery. The area, it which quartz exposures were said to exist in three places over one 300-foot stretch, is 40 miles east of the Manitoba boundary and more than 200 miles north of the Red Lake discoveries. It surrounds the Sachigo river.

On Roof Of World

Successful Truck Gardening Is Possible At High Altitudes

Potatoes and other vegetables will grow at an altitude of over 7,200 feet in the Pamirs, "the Roof of the World," according to Professor M. Baranov, who recently conducted experiments for the Soviet Government. He declares that truck gardening is possible in the lofty mountains. The potatoes were grown from seeds, and tomato, cabbage, pepper and egg plant seeds are successfully taking root.

Efforts are being made to establish Cochin as a principal port of India.

Work Ahead Of Schedule

Thousands Of Workmen Busy On Liner Queen Mary

The London Times says the work of fitting out the Queen Mary so that she may be ready to leave Clydebank for Southampton in the early summer of 1936 is ahead of schedule. Day in and day out some 4,000 skilled workmen are busily engaged on the vessel herself, apart from the many thousands engaged on her equipment and fittings.

A walk round the base of the funnels, the circumference of which is about 100 feet, has been described as like a walk round a gasometer. They were assembled in sections in the yard and then built up on the ship.

Nearly all the machinery has now been installed. One consequence is that the giant liner is now sitting considerably lower in the water than she was at the time of the launch. Then she weighed approximately 40,000 tons, but to-day she is much nearer the 73,000 tons which will be her weight when she goes to sea.

The provision of the passenger accommodation is more advanced than may be at first apparent. The 25 public rooms will be unusually large. The first-class dining room will hold 900 passengers at one sitting, and will have a 30-foot high roof. The two large swimming pools will be resplendent in marble. The enclosed promenade deck, which measures approximately 1,250 feet in length, has been fitted throughout with hundreds of shipside windows.

The Clyde between Clydebank and the Tail of the Bank is an exceedingly narrow and winding stream, and it is probable that use will be made of two tides for the journey to the sea, although experts are confident they could take the ship downstream on one tide. The most favorable tides will probably occur about May 18, 19 or 20 next year.

Not far from the fitting-out basin there is a rocky outcrop in the river bed, but it will be blasted away before the liner starts her journey. At certain parts "corners" in the river will be staithed out. The Clyde Light-houses Trust has the preparation of the river for this momentous trip well in hand.

"I am sorry," she said, "but I could never marry a red-headed man."

"Then may I propose again next year?" he asked.

"But it will be the same thing then."

"No; my hairdresser says I shall be bald in a year."

For home to look good to many people, it is necessary for them to get a long distance away from it.

PATTERN 5458

The toque is again in high favor with Dame Fashion. She well knows how easy it is to wear. And this one in crochet meets with her loud approval for all her forecasts point to crochet as an outstanding note for Fall and Winter. The toque is so simple to make and has, as chief decoration, a cable effect that is very lovely. The muff-purse—and how we all love that—repeats the design of the toque. Its shirred ruffle and fullness give it a feminine note that will add much to your appearance.

In pattern 5458 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements. To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Nearly Two Million Dollars Set Aside For Air Site

A 900-acre property four miles from Sydney, N.S., has been selected as the site for a $1,750,000 North American terminus of the projected ocean air service, C. H. Clendinning, chairman of the Irish Transatlantic Air Corporation, announced recently.

Owned by the Nova Scotia government, the property has been deeded to the corporation and will be developed along the lines proposed for the eastern terminus at Londonderry, northern Ireland.

Planning the "quickest practical route" for air transportation between the Old Country and North America, the chairman said the terminus at Sydney would be leased to other corporations connecting the ocean service with Canadian and United States lines. The planes, he said, would provide accommodation for 45 persons beside facilities for handling mail.

He blushed a little; and Nance said: "I'll admit that Jack is. It took pluck to leave even the cold shelter of that bus, you know. But to make a fuss over me is—just ridiculous! I'd have been a coward to watch those kiddies freeze to death and not do everything I could. You know I would!"

There was silence a moment before Matt asked: "Do you remember the last time we sat under the old pine, Nancy? You told me then that your courage had never been tested and you wondered how you'd show up in a pinch. Well, you know now, don't you?"

"I'd forgotten that," she answered softly; then lowered her voice still more, her face flushing a little. "Matt, will you tell me something, honestly? I can't ask Cousin Columbine, she looks so worn and tired; and I've got to know. It's about my feet. These papers said I'd lose them—that my legs were frozen solid to the knees. Was that the truth?"

"Yes, that was true, Nancy. I'm never going to forget the way I felt when the nurse told me an amputation wasn't necessary. I wanted to cheer, or—or cry or something. Miss Columbine did cry when I told her." Nance swallowed, and it struck the young man that she was still frightened.

"Is there something else you want to know, Nance?"
"Only—only—well, Mark carried me upstairs when I came home. Matt. Are my feet really all right, or . . ."

So she'd been lying there acting cheerful and worrying about that! thought Matthew. Oh, she was wonderful!

"Of course they're all right!" he reassured her. "You could walk on them now, only the doctor said you weren't to go too fast. That's straight, Nancy. I wouldn't deceive you a time like this."

The girl sank back limply against her pillows.

"I suppose I'm a moron; but I've wanted to ask that question for days, and was too scared!" She smiled now, at her own foolishness, and added: "If all those complimentary newspaper reporters knew I was terrified at the thought of ending my days in a wheel-chair, I guess they'd be frightfully disillusioned!"

"Disillusioned!" Matt's eyes flashed with protective indignation. "Disillusioned! Why—"

"Are you plannin' to stay to dinner, Matt Adam?" called Aurora shrilly. "If so, and you're willin' to carry up three trays, you and Miss Columbine can eat with Nancy. What say?"

CHAPTER XXII.

"I am well aware, dear Cousin James," wrote Columbine Nelson on the first day of May, "how anxious you are to get your heroic young folks back; but nevertheless, I am going to ask a favor: Let them stay until Jack has time to fill out again. He looked so splendid the morning they started off for Prairie Ranch that I can't bear to send him home to you as gaunt as he is now. A few weeks of careful feeding will work wonders in his appearance; and Aurora Tubbs is itching to 'fat him up,' as she expresses it. If I may keep them until after the fourth of July they'll have a chance to see so much more of this wonderful country; and your old cousin will be far happier."

A note from Nancy added her plea: "Don't ever think that we're not crazy to see you all, but Jack is a beanpole, and Aurora's marvelous cooking ought to fix that in no time. Then too, 'Uncle Tom and Aunt Em' want us at Prairie Ranch for a few days, just to convince us, I imagine, that the plains can be warm and friendly as well as cold and cruel. A visit there will be something to remember; and anyway, Jack refuses to go home until he's husky enough to handle a pick and shovel and can straighten up the gate posts at Cousin Columbine's driveway. They trouble him a great deal more than they do her (!); but she does want the house painted, and couldn't afford to because she paid our fares out here. Aurora told me that. I guess Uncle Jethro didn't make any great pile in Leadville; and I sha'n't accept a penny of the 'salary' she offered as bait in that comical letter. Your wandering girl will return as poor as she started out!"

"But I'm feeling wonderful now. My feet are as good as new. The library's booming; and I still get something of a kick when any one addresses me as 'Miss Aladdin.' I've not gone back on New England, Daddy; but I'll miss the library and those 'big, open spaces' we Easterners joke about. Tell Phil I'm sending him some real Indian arrow heads. . ."

Though the family at Edgemere was disappointed, this plan was obviously best for Jack, and they did not protest. The boy's strength returned more rapidly than Cousin Columbine anticipated; and by the middle of May they ventured to make some of the long-promised excursions to places not far distant enough to tire him.

"I'm sick to death of puttin' up picnic lunches," grumbled Aurora one bright May morning. "And why anybody in their senses should go to Cripple Creek when they could stay away, is somethin' entirely beyond me. Not a tree in the whole town, Nancy Nelson! Not a growin' thing lessen you count sage; and those awful prospect holes all over the hills lookin' for all the world like open is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your

Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

graves in a cemetery. And here's Miss Columbine as excited over the trip as if she'd never seen a minin' town, let alone lived in one of the pesky places for months on end! Jack, you're to drink every drop o' milk in this thermos bottle; and if you feel able to digest 'em, eat three bananas. They're powerful fattenin', as I ought to know if anybody does. Is it true Eve Adam's takin' a whole roast chicken? I hope for your sakes her husband had the cookin' of it. Looks like the Adams is neglectin' everything these days to take you gallavantin'. It's a wonder they stop to milk the cows."

Eve Adam laughed when Nancy repeated this caustic comment.

"But who cares, my dear? We'll make up the neglected work after you leave us; and it warms my heart to see how Miss Columbine enjoys these trips. It gives her a new lease of life to visit the old scenes and talk of those times with young folks who are really interested."

Jack thrilled over that trip to Cripple Creek; but the day they visited the scene of Marsh Pemperton's colossal hoax, stood out, a high light, in Nancy's memory. This was during the first week in June, a day with soft, white clouds drifting across the sky, and air like mid-summer. Their road led past ranches where men were ploughing immense acres; then on through mile after mile of yellow pines. Seated between Mark and Matthew in the old truck (the comfort of the new sedan being given over to the older Adams, Cousin Columbine, and Jack), Nance caught her breath at occasional glimpses of distant mountains, some snow-rimmed.

"I'm all but speechless over this scenery," she confessed, while the boys smiled in amusement at her enthusiasm, "yet those two idiots" (with a backward glance toward Luke and Mary Taylor, seated on cushions in the rear), "are jabbering away as if there were no 'wonders to behold.' What ails them?"

"Love's young dream, lady," Mark opined as he slowed down for a thank-you-ma'am. "Luke's always been more or less what Aurora calls 'sweet' on Mary; and that girl has certainly blossomed out just lately, the result, I believe, of association with Miss Aladdin."

Nance laughed; and Matt said solemnly: "With all due respect to Miss Aladdin, I've a notion that our kid brother is responsible for that change in Mary Taylor." He turned to view the unsuspicious couple seated below, and added: "At any rate, they're both oblivious to the scenery!"

Mark chuckled, and rounding a curve, announced: "Here's your pioneer cemetery, Nance—the one Miss Columbine told about. Shall we view it from here, or are you determined to climb that slope in this hot sun?"

"What did we come for?" the girl responded; and as Matt sprang down she took his steadying hand and followed. "I wouldn't miss seeing this place for anything. Aren't you all coming?"

Mark shook his head.
"I'm starving. I'm going to forage in the lunch box. What do you say, folks?"

This last was addressed to Luke and Mary, to whom the lunch box seemed more alluring than the cemetery. So it was with Matt alone that Nance explored that tragic spot, looking down soberly on graves protected only by sagging fences, the marking on their wooden headboards almost obliterated—some wholly lost amid an overgrowth of weeds and bushes.

Perhaps it was the history of the place that silenced the young people. Neither spoke for a time; and then Nance stooped, laying a spray of blossoming pink kinnikinnick on one small unmarked resting place.

"Somebody's baby," she explained, flushing a bit for fear that Matt would think her sentimental; but to her relief he added:

"And all because of one man's greed. I'd hate to be responsible for such a place, Nancy; yet when my time comes I'd rather lie in this wild tangle than in a city cemetery with a neatly mowed lawn above me, and a 'perpetual care' sign over my head." His voice was thoughtful, and with sudden inspiration the girl quoted:

"Under the wide and starry sky Dig my grave and let me lie."

"Is that how you feel, Matt?" His eyes lighted at her intuition; but before he could reply, Mark's laughing voice broke in upon them.

"Both poetic and appropriate, young lady; but you two seem to have forgotten that we're on our way. The old folks have caught up with us, but they're too lazy to get out, and Jack's already explored this melancholy scene. There's still ten or twelve miles ahead if we're to eat our lunch on the shore of the Platte, as Miss Columbine has set her heart on doing. Have some cake?"

Matthew, who longed to strangle his brother for this intrusion, nevertheless accepted his portion with good grace; while Nance exclaimed: "You've saved my life, Mark! I'm almost passing out. Isn't the Platte the river we read about in history—I mean the one the pioneers were always fording?"
